MR. MUBIRU DERICK

IT TECHNICIAN GAWERA INVESTMENTS

GIU Security Solutions

Since late 2005 the GIU founding members have been providing security solutions to the U.S. Department of Defense and Department of State in Iraq and Afghanistan. To date, our leadership team has been directly responsible for recruiting, training, deploying and managing over (12,000) personnel for the U.S. Government and Industry leading firms during coalition operations as well as post-war. Our approach is based on extensive vetting coupled with a stringent training cycle taken from the U.S. Army Special Operations and U.S. Department of State, producing highly skilled, professional security personnel.

Management how the security force is managed reflects on how the personnel will perform and is the first step in bringing the company to the international level. With proper governance, the company/management is compelled to maintain integrity in business and rule of law applications is every part of the client relationship, as well as the employee relationship in the guard force.

Training and Development, key factor in establishing an internationally recognized security force. Our training cadre is made from prior U.S. Army Special Forces personnel, while utilizing the Department of State “Worldwide Protective Security” (WPS) standards, developing each individual guard to the highest level while empowering them with the proper knowledge and skill-set to provide the end client with a superior protective solution.

Price Point, the cost of security need not be a severe drain on a company's profit margins, that said, it is still a part of doing business. Each company's security needs differ and a proper security assessment must be done to determine the level of security needed.

The GIU team has been doing this for Governments and private firms on a global scale, while employing industry leaders to conduct important security assessments to determine what level is truly needed, saving the client undue drains from their security budgets.

GIU Intelligence Support

The Intelligence Cycle is a continuous process of collecting, analyzing, disseminating, and managing intelligence information in the context of government and military affairs. The Intelligence Manager must remain fluid and be able to change his/her course of thinking with the ever-changing threat. In stating that, the Intelligence Cycle is only a basis in which to begin the effort and should be seen as only the starting point. GIU personnel are able to demonstrate the cycle, how it is effectively managed, and how to avoid undo efforts that lead to failure.

Capabilities to Deliver: GIU Personnel are well qualified and capable of providing superior support to the U.S. Intelligence and Allied community, as we have supported intelligence operations for the U.S. Army, Navy and Marine Corps. Our expertise extends to greater heights. The staff we bring to our client's efforts have worked all functional aspects of the intelligence cycle at all levels. The intelligence cycle is the five-step process by which information is converted into intelligence and made available to users:

- 1) Planning and direction “tasking”;
- 2) Collection, processing, and exploitation;
- 3) Production;
- 4) Dissemination and integration;
- 5) Evaluation.

This is a highly simplified model of intelligence operations in terms of processes; however, intelligence actions do not always follow sequentially through the cycle. For example, a request for imagery causes activity in the planning and direction step but may not involve new collection, going instead to a production facility where imagery is drawn from an archive.

The intelligence cycle, however, presents intelligence activities as a structure for the discussion of intelligence doctrine.

To better understand intelligence and its cycle, it is important to recognize the clear and critical distinction between information and intelligence. Information is data that has been collected but not further developed through analysis, interpretation, or correlation with other data and intelligence.

Asymmetric warfare provides new challenges to the intelligence cycle model.

GIU Personnel are available for:

1. Intel Support Operations
2. Anti-Terrorism
3. Surveillance and Counter Surveillance Training

All Intelligence related efforts are restricted to the USG and Allied Nations working under the U.S. Department of State - Directorate of Defense Trade Controls (DDTC) and Defense Services, in accordance with 22 U.S.C. 2778-2780 of the Arms Export Control Act (AECA) and the International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR) (22 CFR Parts 120-130)

GIU Life Support

GIU personnel have a proven track record in providing facilities management and catering to the U.S. Military, International and African based companies. The Company works to international HSE standards and employs highly experienced and qualified personnel to ensure a high-quality service.

On the catering side, GIU prides itself on its reputation of providing truly excellent food in all terrains. Three meals a day can be prepared as well as on-going refreshments on demand. Menus are varied and discussed with clients to ensure that the appropriate food is prepared to satisfy the client's tastes. Fresh produce is delivered regularly to all environments, ensuring excellent quality and nutritional content.

In addition to catering services, a full same day laundry service is provided and a team of cleaning personnel ensure accommodation and other camp facilities are maintained and serviced to the highest internationally accepted standards.

All GIU sites have a minimum of Level 3 Food Safety personnel involved in overseeing the food preparation, internationally certified health and safety personnel in attendance and our managers are all qualified in NEBOSH or other similar qualifications. Camp maintenance personnel are internationally certified for their positions and are trained extensively in industry specific Safety, Health, Environment and Quality (SHEQ) standards and procedures relevant to their roles.

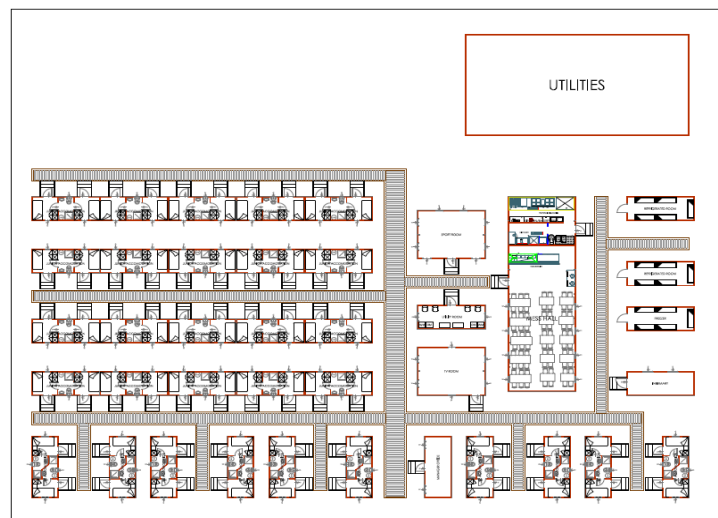

Within Africa's varying and often remote and hostile terrain, GIU recognizes the need to provide high quality safe accommodation for its client's personnel to ensure they can carry out their work objectives efficiently. Accordingly, the Company supplies multiple styled accommodations, ranging from state-of-the-art modular containerized units to tented fly camps, all tailor-made to its clients' requirements.

The Company's containerized accommodation solution provides fully air-conditioned modular workforce accommodation units, plumbed with en-suite shower and lavatory, powered and furnished with full communication and satellite T.V. The units offer the occupants a high standard of comfort in all meteorological environments and the necessary privacy that a client's personnel require.

In tandem with the accommodation units, GIU provides fully functioning modern industrial kitchens, dining rooms, recreation rooms, gymnasiums, meeting and conference facilities, that ensure a clients' facility functions to the highest standard and its personnel are satisfied.

GIU Civil Works

The Company has extensive experience in managing complex operations from initial planning stages through to site rehabilitation. We have recently focused on multiple projects involving remote camp construction, well site construction and associated infrastructure, bridges, clinics, schools and water management installations. The team includes highly experienced internationally accredited professionals in the fields of civil engineering and surveying, design and fabrication, project management, logistics and environmental management. GIU is fully self-sufficient and maintains its own fleet of transport and construction equipment specializing in the construction of camps, and industry specific infrastructure. These in-house resources and capabilities allow us to maintain control of project delivery and consistently comply with HSE and quality control standards.
